LONDON, APRIL 16.

WE hear that in case Sir George Macartney, his majesty's ambassador at the court of Petersburg, continued indisposed, he will have leave to return home; and that the Hon. Lieut. General George Keppel is to succeed him.

Private letters from Madrid advise, that orders have lately been sent to Havana, to suffer no other nation but their own to trade there.

Garrick is expected in London in a few days.

And our court have been requested to join with no less than three maritime powers, to check the exorbitant insolence of the Moors on the coast of Barbary; by whom the European trade in the Mediterranean has, for some time past, been intolerably harrassed.

The various reports concerning an approaching change in the office of Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, we are assured, are groundless.

We hear that a nobleman of the first distinction will be soon sent over to Portugal, with a commission to speak, in very plain terms, about the obstructions which our commerce every day meets with from the ministerial machinations of that kingdom.

APRIL 18.

Letters from Hamburgh advise, that notwithstanding no notice had been taken in any letters from Petersburgh of an approaching rupture between the Turks and that empire, yet it was affirmed from Constantinople, that a secret divan had been held there, wherein it was resolved to declare war against the Russians; and that orders were dispatched for the troops in Asia to join the Ottoman forces in the neighbourhood of Choczim and Oczakow.

They write from Leghorn of the 18th ult. that the grand project which Paoli, chieftain of the malcontents in Corsica, was mention'd some time ago to be pregnant with, and which was to surprize all Europe, seems to be nothing more than the design of placing the royal crown of that island upon his own head, flattering himself with more success than any foreigner could think to meet with.

Yesterday morning, about ten o' clock, the right honourable the house of peers went to Westminster Hall, and proceeded on the examination of the evidence in regard to the charge against Lord Byron; which being finished, and also the evidence in behalf of his Lordship, at four o' clock the peers adjourned to their own house; after some time they returned; and his lordship was found guilty of manslaughter; but pleading his privilege, his lordship was discharged from his confinement, after paying the usual fees.

This week dispatches were received from his excellency general Townshend, Governor of Minorca.

It appears by a late account taken, that the number of inhabitants in Spanish Hispaniola, have continued decreasing, for the last seven years very considerably; and upon the whole, do not at present exceed twenty-thousand souls: This circumstance, together with the flourishing state of the French part of the island, who are said to exceed eighty thousand inhabitants, had determined the court to reinforce their settlements in that island with some thousand families from Old Spain, part of whom have already been embarked in king's ships, lately sent out on the West India station.

We hear an exchange of territory is now upon the carpet between the courts of Copenhagen and London, by which the former are to enjoy certain lands in some of the new British American colonies, in return for the Danish island of St. Thomas.

A coalition among the great, it is very confidently said, will take place before the breaking up of the parliament.

Passes of a new form are now making out at the admiralty office, for all English ships who trade as cruizers on the coast of Barbary.

APRIL 23.

Private letters from Paris advise, that the French General Count Marbeuf has so little answered the expectations of the Genoese in reducing Corsica to the subjection of the Republic, as to have occasioned repeated complaints, that things are now in a worse situation than before the arrival of his Most Christian Majesty's forces on that island.

We hear that the King of Prussia had like to have been burnt by by reading in bed; he had fallen asleep, during which the sheets had taken fire.

Letters from Dantzic advise, that a treaty between the Empress of Russia and King of Denmark was on the carpet, under the mediation of the King of Prussia, for exchanging Russian Holstein, for the counties of Oldenburg and Delmonhost. By virtue of this agreement, his Danish Majesty, besides satisfying all demands that may be due on Russian Holstein, engages to pay 6,000,000 of dollars to the Grand Duke of Russia.

Thursday some particular instructions were sent to Commodore Harrison in the Mediterranean, said to contain orders to observe a strict neutrality with regard to the approaching troubles between the states of Barbary and the Christian powers.

APRIL 25.

A letter from Warsaw, dated March 30, says, that the King making a visit a few days since to Prince Czartorinski, Palatine of Russia, found in the antichamber a certain person most superbly dressed. His Majesty asked him why he made such a magnificent [illegible]ce? and upon being answered, that it was done for the [illegible] the King, the Monarch made the following reply: "By these habits of parade, however valuable they may be, our dear Poland acquires no benefit; on the contrary, they do us mischief, by impoverishing the country, and enriching foreigners. 'Tis our own conduct that must display the valour, the spirit, the wisdom, and the prudence, which makes one nation esteemed and respected by another. As for myself, tho' King, I wear a plain habit, in order, by my example, to root out foppery and dissipation. It would well become every one to imitate me; and no longer to wear laced cloaths, but to avoid all superfluous luxury."

They write from Lucca, that besides the treasure that passed lately through the Milanese, which loaded eighty mules, from the court of Madrid for Vienna, his Catholic majesty has agreed to give 470,000 piastres (pieces of eight) as a marriage portion with the Infanta of Spain, intended consort to the Archduke Leopold of Austria.

They write from Paris, that his Most Christian Majesty has granted a gratification of 18,000 livres to the widow Calas, 6000 to each of her two daughters, 3000 to one of her sons, and the like sum to the servant maid, without depriving them of the expectative on their first judges.

A letter from Paris, April 12, says, "The court, it is said, has at length determined to discharge the Canada bills which are in the hands of the English, on the footing which has been proposed by the court of London.

Yesterday his Majesty went in state to the house of peers, attended by the duke of Rutland, master of the horse, and the Earl of Pom[illegible]; when his Majesty made a most gracious speech from the throne; in which, having acquainted both houses with his motives for laying the weighty business of appointing a regency before them, his Majesty was pleased to say: 'And as my health, by the blessing of God, is now restored, I take the earliest opportunity of meeting you here, and recommending to your most serious deliberation the making such provision, as would be necessary, in case any of my children should succeed to the throne, before they shall respectively attain the age of eighteen years. To this end I refer it to your consideration, whether, under the present circumstances, it will not be expedient to vest in me the power of appointing, from time to time, by instruments in writing under my sign manual, either the Queen, or any other person of my Royal family, usually residing in Great-Britain, to be the guardian of the person of such successor, and the regent of these kingdoms until such successor shall attain the age of eighteen years; subject to the like restrictions and regulations, as are specified and contained in an act, passed upon a similar occasion, in the 24th year of the reign of the late king, my royal grand-father? The regent so appointed to be assisted by a council, composed of the several persons, who, by reason of their dignities and offices, are constituted members of the council established by that act, together with those, whom you may think proper to leave to my nomination.'

Mr. Wilkes is in very good health at Naples, which place, he says, is the most delightful he ever saw, and where he proposes to settle. He was visited by all the English in every town through which he passed from Paris to that city.

The principal owners of coal mines in Scotland, intend to petition that the act, prohibiting the exportation of sea coals, may not extend to Scotland, which would be of the greatest prejudice to that kingdom.

Proposals are now delivering to merchants, &c. about the royal exchange, for raising a fund for providing marriage portions for poor young maidens.

An approaching coalition, attributed chiefly to the mediation of a personage of the first distinction, is now talked of as a thing certain at the west end of the town; in consequence of which, some changes in the highest departments are expected to take place, previous to the breaking up of an august assembly.

We hear that before the rising of parliament, a motion will be made to new model the office of secretaries of state; and that in lieu of the privilege of franking news-papers, which the clerks of those offices have long enjoyed, an adequate salary will, for the future, be annexed to so honourable an employment.

We hear that a certain sum of money arisen, or which may arise, from the duties granted by an act of last session, for laying certain duties on goods and merchandize in the American colonies, is to be applied to the payment of his Majesty's troops that are kept for the defence of the said colonies and new acquired settlements.

It is said the Court of Versailles, in the last dispatches from London, hath been given to understand, that such French ships as shall hereafter be found with certain species of goods on board, at Newfoundland, the Gulph of St. Lawrence, or any other British territories in North America, will be seized and condemned by courts martial on the spot, without appeal; neither are the subjects of that kingdom to be permitted to purchase ready caught cargoes of fish from those of Great-Britain, without incurring the same penalty.

It is reported that there will be shortly a change in the ministry; and it is said that the Earl of Egmont (now first lord of the Admiralty) will be appointed one of the Secretaries of state.

The report is again revived, that his Majesty will visit his German dominions soon after his birth-day; and that some necessary preparations are now deliberating upon previous to it.

It is said that a reform will speedily take place in most of the principal departments under the government.

APRIL 27.

They write from Madrid, that the Ministry continue very intent upon putting all their settlements in America in the best posture of defence; but having found from experiance that Spanish Hispaniola is not only the weakest, but worst cultivated of all their possessions, great encouragement is given to such officers of the army as chuse to settle there; in consequence of which, upwards of 400 have already embarked, at the King's expence, with their families, for that island.

Wednesday night a council was held at the Earl of Sandwich's, Whitehall, on affairs of importance.

The late discovery made of tanning with oak saw-dust, for which the society of arts, &c. paid the premium of 100l. has reduced the price of oak bark twenty-five per cent. cheaper than the usual price it was sold for before that discovery.

The Newfoundland squadron, consisting of the following ships of war, sailed on Thursday for their respective stations of St. Pierre and Miquelon, and the Gulph of St. Laurence, viz. the Guernsey, Commodore Palliser; Thames, Hon. Capt. Percival; Niger, Sir Thomas Adams, Bart. Pearl, Capt. Saxton, and Lark, Capt. Thomson.

Four of his Majesty's cruising cutters are now fitting out at Sheerness, to occupy the gut of Canso, and the Straights of Belleisle in North-America, during the season for fishing.

The duke of Cumberland, it is said, is expected speedily to assume a great character in the state.

A particular clause in the marriage act, so far as regards his Majesty's American islands and plantations, is expected to take place this session.

We hear the late act for calling in the American paper currency will not be repealed.

It is now said a scheme is under consideration for augmenting the pay of an ensign in a marching regiment.

It is said that duelling will be made a capital offence, without distinction of persons, with regard to the Aggressor.

APRIL 29.

Private letters from Genoa mention, that had it not been for a very critical discovery, Paschal Paoli, by the treachery of certain subjects of the Republic, would before now have in all probability been possessed of every place of strength belonging to the Genoese in Corsica. It is added, that serious thoughts of relinquishing that island to some foreign power were once more resumed.

An Ambassador extraordinary is expected in a few days to be nominated for the Court of Copenhagen, on account of some new treaties of commerce now on the tapis.

Both houses of Parliament are expected to be prorogued for the summer season on or about the 24th of next month, and not before, on account of the great business before them.

It is reported that one of the Secretaries of state will shortly resign, and be succeeded by his excellency the Earl of Northumberland.

We hear that the Right. Hon. Bute will set out in a few weeks on a tour to France and Italy.

A few days since a gentlewoman of fortune paid the debt of a prisoner in the Marshalsea, took him away in her own carriage, and was next day married to him at a neighbouring church: the lady is said to have a very considerable fortune.

The parliament of Bretagne in France, in full Assembly, resolved to request his Majesty, that they might all resign their offices; since after the reproaches they were obliged to hear from the King's own mouth, they can no longer, with any decency, bear the name of magistrates. But as a proof of their affection to the King's person, they would continue their functions till he had provided for the administration of that province.

A woman at Altona, near Hamburgh, who had nine children die in cutting their teeth, hath saved the six others she was mother of, by rubbing their gums frequently with virgin honey, on her finger or a bit of linen.

We are informed no more ships of war will be put in commission at least for some time, those already in actual service amounting to considerably more than one third of the royal navy.

Most of the French fishing vessels for Newfoundland have from 10 to 16 guns.

CHARLES-TOWN, July 6, 1765.

THE Boston news-papers inform us, that the small-pox rages with great violence in the province of Quebec, and with peculiar fatality to the old inhabitants, (meaning the French) from the unreasonable prejudices that prevails amongst them against inoculation, upon religious principles.

The Harriot packet-boat, from Falmouth, arrived at New-York the 26th of May.—Sir John Sinclair, his lady and family, are also arrived there, in the York, Captain Burton, from London.

The Spaniards at Porto-Rico, have taken and confiscated two vessels belonging to New-York, for being found near the coasts of that island.

The Frenchmen taken up by the Speedwellman of war, say, that when they left the Mississippi, near sixty sail of vessels were there; that no Spaniards had yet arrived to take poll'ssion of New-Orleans; and that all expectations of them were almost over.

The 9th of May, the hon. Thomas Fitch, Esq; was chosen governor, and the hon. William Pitkin, Esq; deputy-governor, of Connecticut.

The Rev. Mr. George Whitefield preached his farewell sermon at Philadelphia, May 22d, and set out from thence the 24th for New-York, where he intended to embark for England.
